PROFILE	I'm a recent BS in Information Technology graduate with a growing passion for web development and building clean, responsive websites. I enjoy turning ideas into functional interfaces and you can see my projects in my online portfolio linked at https://wakamonoo.vercel.app. Most of my experience comes from personal projects, academic work, and exploring real-world examples. I'm eager to continue learning, collaborate with others, and contribute to projects that make a positive impact. I value consistency, clear communication, and continuous growth in every step of the development process.
